The Broomsquire

In 1896, Sabine Baring-Gould wrote his novel The Broom-Squire which is set in the Devil's Punch Bowl and Thursley. This 'what if' tale tells the story of the baby girl, supposedly carried by the sailor infamously murdered on Hindhead in September 1786, and follows events as she grows up, a 'foundling' in the local community.

Dramatised by Jo Smith and directed by Steve White, this promenade play will tour in September: -

The Phoenix Centre, Bordon - Fri 15 Sept, 8pm
Haslemere Museum - Sat 18 Sept, 2.30 & 7.30pm
Rural Life Museum, Tilford - Sun 17 Sept, afternoon
Headley Village Hall - Sat 23 Sept, 2.30 & 8pm
